MMV is joining forces with Mountain Riders

A Commitment to «Zero Waste Mountain 2030» MMV is a proud signatory of the “Zero Waste Mountain 2030” charter led by Mountain Riders, an organisation advocating for ecological transition in mountain environments. Through this partnership, MMV joins a key initiative involving local stakeholders such as the Compagnie des Alpes and various resorts that have also signed the charter. Actions include raising awareness about Zero Waste Mountain in MMV clubs, reducing waste at the source, and training teams with tools like the «Mountain Fresk.»

In the next phase, MMV plans to support animator training by creating content, activities, and programs dedicated to mountain ecology.

Better Serving Customers

MMV CONFIRMS ITS EXPANSION IN THE ALPS

MMV X Terrésens

MMV Partners with TERRESENS, Targeting 18,000 Beds in the French Alps by 2026

Since summer 2024, MMV has been the exclusive marketer for all 3,600 Terrésens mountain beds. Terrésens, a specialist in mountain real estate, continues to grow with several projects currently underway. By summer 2026, these developments will increase Terrésens' portfolio to 5,700 beds, enabling MMV to market over 18,000 beds in the French Alps under the MMV and Terrésens brands.

"This expanded offering strengthens our presence in key destinations like Samoëns, Les Saisies, and Les Deux Alpes, while also allowing us to introduce exciting new locations to our guests, such as Megève, Vaujany, Morzine, La Rosière, Serre-Chevalier, and Combloux," says Caroline Marro, Deputy CEO of MMV.

This agreement highlights MMV's proactive approach to growth, a strategy further accelerated since joining the Compagnie des Alpes Group.

It also opens up future opportunities for collaboration, especially in operations and developing new capacities.

Serre Chevalier

A new Residence Club is set to open in December 2025 in Serre Chevalier, offering a 1,000 beds. This strategic expansion aims to boost our accommodation capacity and enhance our offerings to better meet the expectations of our guests.

Designed to meet the highest environmental standards, this new establishment reflects our commitment to greater environmental responsibility

CSR at the Heart of MMV

Fabienne Carasco, Deputy CEO of Finance, Procurement, and CSR

CSR has been a cornerstone of MMV for many years, embraced by every team member and partner. It's embedded in all our services, across our properties, and in every development project. Every small action counts. In the mountains, the effects of climate change are felt twice as strongly as elsewhere, making it crucial to raise awareness and act with responsibility and care.

This commitment is shared with our shareholder, Compagnie des Alpes, which leads an ambitious CSR strategy. MMV is fully aligned with their goal of achieving net-zero carbon by 2030. Building a Sustainable Future in the Mountains

MMV is dedicated to becoming a regenerative force in mountain tourism.

Following the recent openings of Residence Clubs in Risoul, Samoëns, and Les Deux Alpes, we are determined to continue expanding in the Alps—but always responsibly.

At Serre Chevalier, our current project is being built to meet the rigorous standards of the HQE High Environmental Quality and BiodiverCity certifications. We apply the same high standards to all future developments under consideration. This reflects our commitment to growing in harmony with the environment and striving for sustainability at every step.

At the same time, with the support of an advisory firm, we are exploring a sustainable business model focused on renovation. By prioritizing energy-efficient upgrades, MMV aims to balance environmental responsibility with economic viability. Renovation is a key pillar of our strategy, offering a meaningful and forward-thinking approach to mountain tourism.

COMFORT & MOUNTAIN LIFESTYLE

In Our Residence Clubs

Comfort is our priority: stylish 4-star apartments designed with your relaxation in mind. Whether you opt for a Comfort, Family, or Stunning Mountain View apartment, our spaces—accommodating up to 12 guests—are perfect for creating lasting memories with family or friends.

The Art of Mountain Living

Nestled at the foot of the slopes, our residences, with their wood-and-stone architecture, blend seamlessly into the alpine landscape as if sculpted by nature itself.

But don't be fooled by their rustic charm—inside, you'll find a haven of comfort and warmth.

Cosy rooms, cleverly designed apartments, and inviting communal spaces make it hard to choose between curling up with a book by the fireplace or enjoying a game of pool with a drink in hand.

Every detail has been thoughtfully crafted to make your stay as comforting as a fondue by the fire. Here, authenticity meets practicality, wrapped in a warmth that will win over even the most skeptical guests

In Our Village Clubs:

Whether you're a couple or a family, our rooms are designed to fit your needs: cosy retreats for two, cleverly arranged family spaces, or interconnecting rooms (perfect for saying «Goodnight!» without leaving the room). Larger rooms can also be configured to host groups or gatherings of friends looking for the perfect getaway.

More Sustainable Construction and Renovation

Started in 2024, the Serre-Chevalier construction project highlights MMV's commitment to meeting top-tier environmental standards.

Key initiatives include a wood pellet heating system, solar panels, and a smart building management system. The project has earned NF Habitat HQE and BiodiverCity certifications.

MMV is also looking into renovation opportunities and is working on upgrading one of its Village Clubs to maximize self-sufficiency while maintaining economic feasibility. Although ambitious, if this approach proves successful, it could be applied to other properties, setting the stage for a renovation-focused growth strategy.

Interview with Romain Fonteneau

Sustainability Project Manager at MMV

Romain, what is your role at MMV?

As Sustainability Project Manager, my role is to ensure that MMV integrates CSR (Corporate Social Responsibility) into its strategy and daily operations, in collaboration with all stakeholders-clients, employees, suppliers, partners, and shareholders.

What are the key components of your work?

First, it's crucial to understand our stakeholders and the environmental, social, and societal challenges, both globally and specifically in mountain regions. Then, we measure the impact of our activities, which allows us to define a roadmap to mitigate these impacts and adapt our business model accordingly.

How does this translate into action?

We've developed a strategic plan called Edelweiss 2030—a nod to the iconic protected mountain flower. The first step was raising awareness and training our teams on CSR topics through initiatives like the Climate Fresk, «2 Tonnes» workshops, eco-action guides tailored to each role, conferences, and challenges like «My Little Planet.» The goal is for everyone to embrace CSR and apply it in their daily work by asking questions like, "How can we do better with fewer resources?" or "Is there a less impactful alternative?"

We've also conducted several assessments of our operations to identify best practices and quantify our impacts in terms of carbon emissions, resource usage (including water), biodiversity, local communities, and employees. Through our participation in the Climate Convention for Businesses, we're enriching our transition plan.

Do you already have some successes to share?

Yes, since January 2025, we have been certified in 18 out of 20 clubs by Green Key. This is the leading international sustainable tourism label for accommodations. Achieving this certification will validate MMV's commitments and recognize the hard work of our teams in advancing CSR initiatives.

TIME TO EAT!

Dining at Village Clubs

At MMV, great hospitality extends to great dining. Of the 20 MMV locations, 10 Village Clubs offer half-board and full-board options. Over a typical year, the group serves nearly one million meals, ensuring every guest enjoys a delicious and memorable experience.

Chef Cédric Campanella training MMV chefs on this winter's signature dishes.

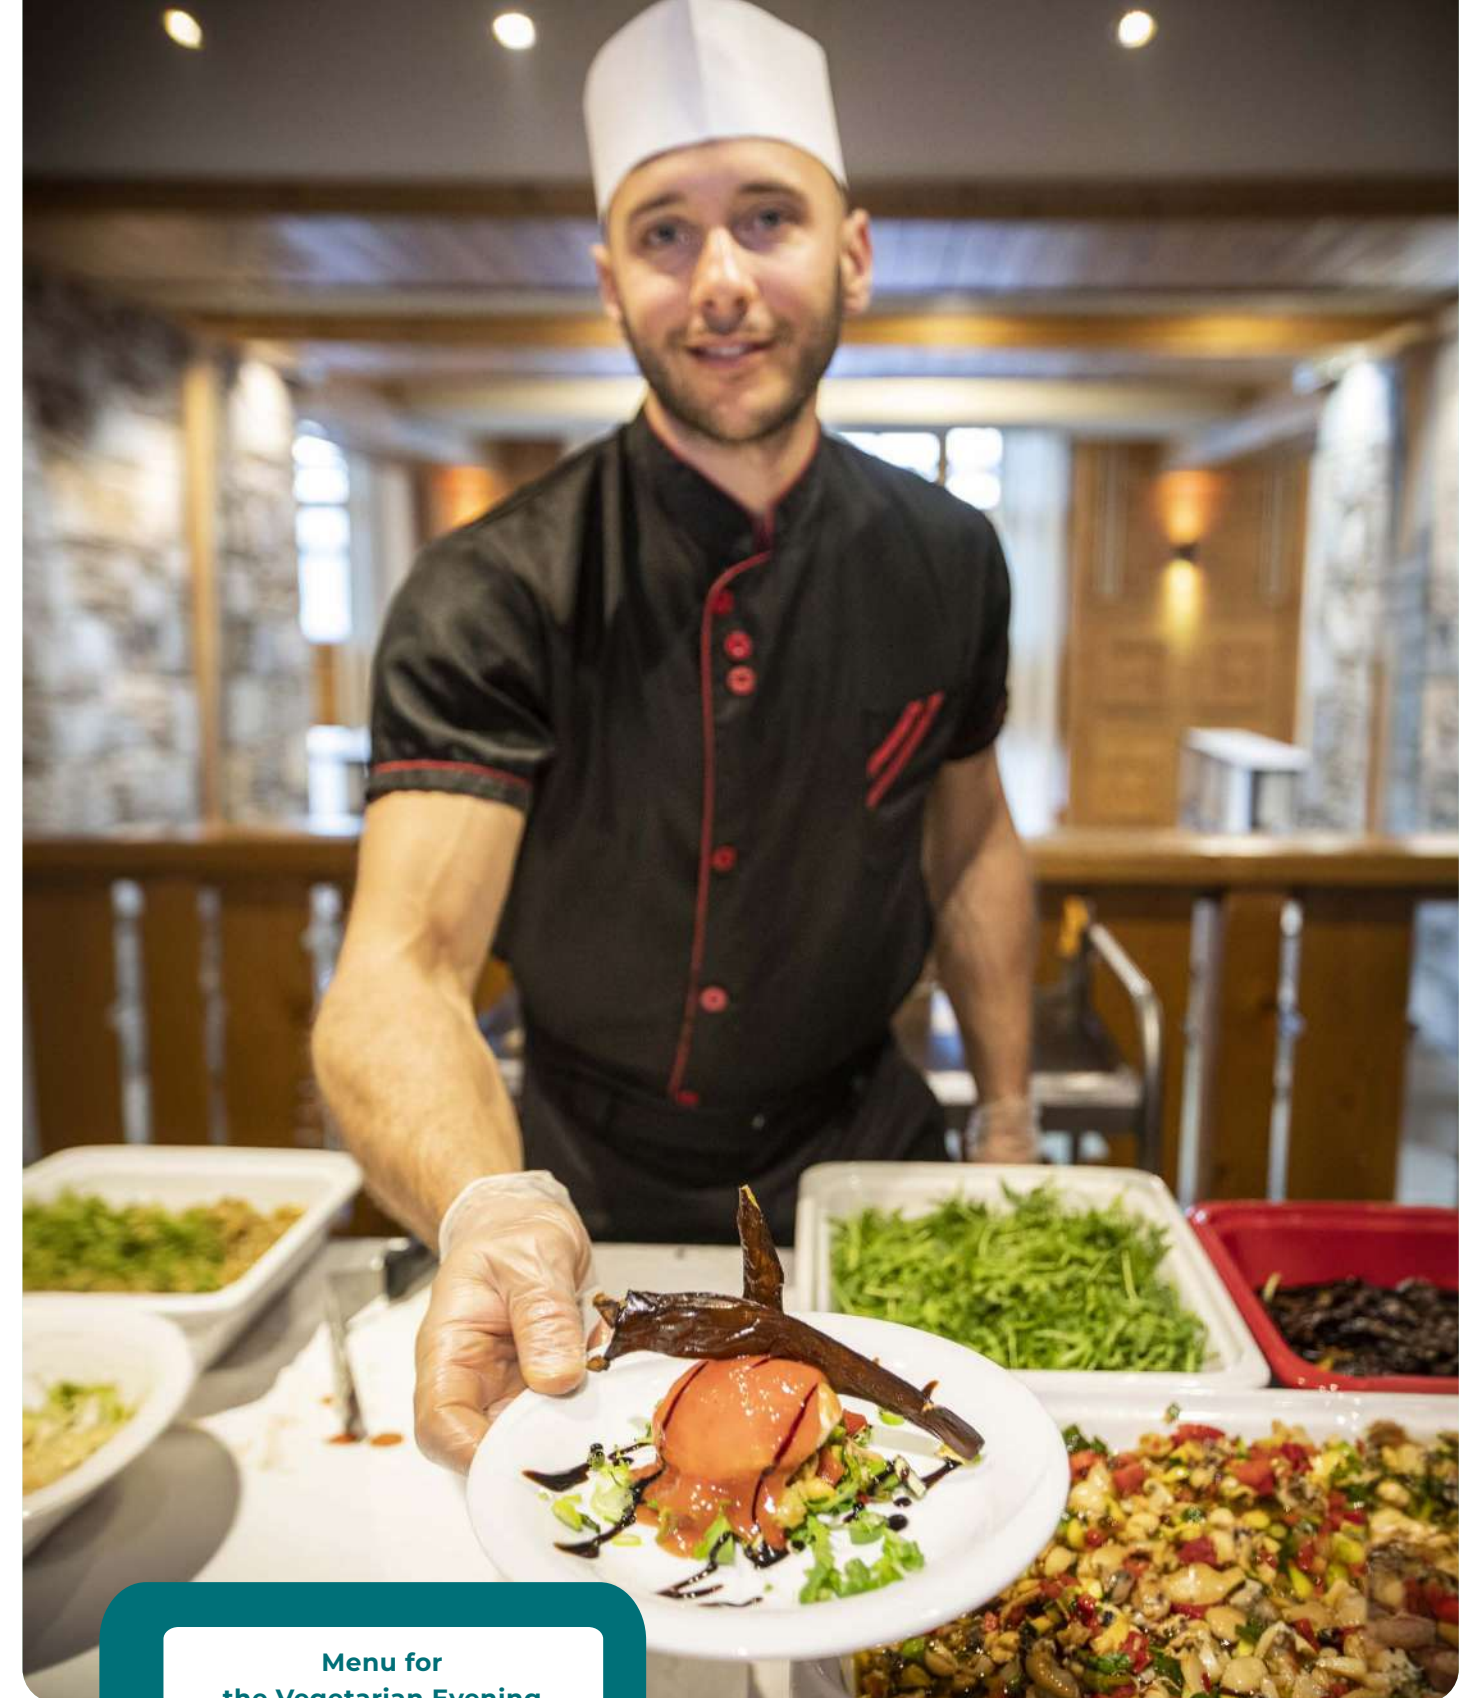

This Winter: 30% Organic or Local Products, with a Goal of 80% in Five Years

"This shift also means reducing the amount of meat we serve. Cutting back on meat allows us to source more locally while caring for the planet," explains Christophe Macina, MMV's Purchasing Director. The transition involves training our teams. Last winter, Chef Cédric Campanella (from the restaurant Le 59 in Aix-les-Bains) created seven plant-based starters. Dishes like mushroom and goat cheese ravioli are prepared live in front of guests, fostering a closer connection between chefs and diners while raising awareness about plant-forward dining. This winter, we've also partnered with Atypique, a company specializing in imperfect or surplus fruits and vegetables. This initiative supports our commitment to reducing food waste in our Clubs while delivering 100% natural, delicious, and earth-friendly cuisine.

On the Road to Organic and Local

Christophe Macina is leading a major sourcing effort to find organic and locally produced goods. He collaborates with the Chambéry-based cooperative «Bio d'Ici» to supply eggs, farm-fresh yogurts, apple compotes, and more. His goal is to expand the range of organic and local offerings, focusing particularly on seasonal vegetables like potatoes, carrots, and onions. The main challenges in this transition lie in the limited supply available from producers and the higher cost of these products.

Menu for the Vegetarian Evening

- ✓ Savoyard-style Gnocchi
- ✓ Soy Strips à la Blanquette
- ✓ Emmental Nuggets
- ✓ Sweet Potato Frie
- ✓ Ratatouille Stir-Fry
- ✓ Veggie Samosas

Dive into Vegetarian Delights

MMV's dining experience is changing, as Christophe Macina, Director of Purchasing and Dining Services, explains: "Up until now, we've always offered a vegetarian option at every meal to meet guest preferences. In 2024, we're taking things further with a fully vegetarian dinner—no meat, no fish. It's a bold move, especially in the mountains during winter! But so far, it's been a hit."

HOLIDAYS FULL OF FUN!

With a dedicated entertainment team of over 100 people, shows and activities are an integral part of the MMV experience

Showtime!

Each week, our guests enjoy a variety of performances for all ages... including The Beekeeper, the children's show. International guests are also well catered for, with shows specially designed for them—featuring translations or dance-focused staging to ensure everyone can join in the fun.

Happy Day: A Fun Way to Raise Environmental Awareness

Every week, MMV dedicates a special day to promoting awareness about protecting the environment, with a particular focus on the unique challenges of mountain regions. Guests can enjoy interactive games, engaging activities, and a fun-filled evening event to wrap up the day.

Residence Clubs: A Local Experience with a Unique Twist

With half of MMV's accommodations now in apartments, the Club spirit, central to MMV's identity, remains at the core of the experience.

Each Residence Club offers kids' clubs for all age groups, from 12 or 18 months to 17 years. In winter, children are escorted to their ski lessons, making it easy for parents to relax. In summer, every child receives a free leisure pass, unlocking access to a variety of resort activities.

The experience doesn't stop at the kids' clubs. Daily life at MMV Residences is packed with activities: start the day with a stretch or fitness session, explore the mountains on a guided snowshoe walk or summer hike, enjoy a delicious afternoon snack, and end the day with game nights like the «bar à jeux» or an evening show.

Located just 200 meters from Flaine's center, the Village Club offers 70 modern rooms and high-quality hotel services. Families are well-catered for, with dedicated kids' clubs for ages 18 months to 17 years, ensuring fun for everyone.

« Le Flaine » : A Heritage-Listed Building

Archives Centre d'Art de Flaine

Eric and Sylvie Boissonas, inspired by American avant-garde architectural movements, commissioned Bauhaus master Marcel Breuer to design a groundbreaking winter sports resort. The result was Flaine, a visionary project that harmonized modern architecture with its natural alpine surroundings.

Breuer's design followed the natural contours of the landscape, with structures built entirely of concrete. The raw, bush-hammered concrete revealed black and white aggregates or the veins of the molds used, mimicking the local limestone formations (lapiaz) unique to Flaine. This milky-grey concrete allowed the resort to blend seamlessly into the snowy landscape during winter.

The Hôtel Le Flaine and the Bételgeuse Residence were among the first buildings completed, and their façades and roofs were listed on France's Supplementary Inventory of Historic Monuments in 1991. Flaine embodies Breuer's principle that "form follows function," with façades featuring molded concrete modules adorned with inverted diamond shapes. Throughout the day, sunlight interacts with these reliefs, creating a dynamic play of light and shadow.

One of Flaine's most striking features is the cantilevered solarium terrace, seemingly suspended over the edge of the cliff. This bold architectural element, now managed by MMV, appears as a concrete cube in perfect balance, showcasing Breuer's mastery over space and his meticulous attention to detail.

Inside Flaine: Timeless Design and Comfort

The interior of the Hôtel Le Flaine continues to impress with a historic fireplace listed as a monument, opening into a modern lounge and bar area. This space seamlessly extends to the stunning suspended terrace, offering breathtaking views. Each of the 70 rooms is thoughtfully designed, providing sweeping mountain vistas, blending modern comfort with the timeless aesthetic of Breuer's vision. Flaine remains a masterpiece of architectural ingenuity, celebrating both innovation and harmony with nature.
